MISREPRESENTATION.

The Topeka Capital already classes the EAGLE as for free whisky. By the end of the campaign, without doubt, the ring organs will be telling their readers that the EAGLE is largely sustained by whisky dealers, if, indeed, they don't charge its editor with holding an interest in a joint in which he occasionally, during a rush of business, acts as bartender. The worst of it is, their readers will believe it.

Barney Kelly, in his anti-resubmission rally here in Wichita, the other night, practically said that the Resubmission forces were made up of bursted real estate men, gamblers and prostitutes. His misrepresentation was no more glaring than the Capital's. Barney Kelly knew population, Omaha had 30,578. > Sam Jones made a sensation in Wheeling, W. Va., the other day by the bitterness of one of his tirades which he dignifies with the name of sermons. The burden of this address was a bitter condemnation of the ministry of all churches, which he condemned as infficient and cowardly. Sam Jones' utterances are like bad odors which disgust one more, the stronger they become, There is one good he accomplishes, however. Any one who listens to his ravings for about five minutes cannot fail to appreciate the dullest utterances of these 'inefficient and cowardly" ministers.
